

THE DAILY STAR
TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 2
LARGEST CIRCULATION IN THE CITY.

For the next twenty-four hours probably fair or partly cloudy.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Reds 13, Picked nine 7, yesterday.
The Osage accommodation train has been discontinued.

The business of the Texas Building Association is being wound up.

The Water-works Board did nothing of importance yesterday. The pay-rolls amounted to $4,192.

CONCERT of the Juvenile Apollo Orchestra, under Prof. Feine, at Mozart Hall, Thursday evening.

R. T. SCOWDEN, formerly chief engineer of the Water-works, is candidate for that position in Louisville.

The alarm from box 71 last night was false. The reflection of the sunset rays on the windows caused the alarm.

The Board of Education last night adopted a rule by which lady principals or assistant principals may be elected at the same salary as those of the opposite sex.

The colored citizens south of Fourth street have asked the School Board for G and E grades in their schools. The matter is being considered by the committee.

THOMAS, a four-year old son of Mrs. Keating, residing at the corner of Hoy and Broadway, fell into the race on Broadway late yesterday and was drowned.

MISS DE FORREST, supported by the full strength of the stock company, will appear as "Capitola" in the sensational drama of the "Hidden Hand" at the Grand Opera-house Matinee.

TWO THOUSAND two hundred and thirteen tons of pigiron were received by flatboats, and weighed by W. H. Broadwell, during October. The receipts of salt per barges during October were 7,212 barrels.

HERMAN HICKEN was thrown from a buggy which he had just hired from Hohenbeck, the livery man, yesterday afternoon and slightly hurt. The horse ran away and the buggy is now kindling wood. All this happened at Cummins-ville.

At the Matinee to-morrow, at the Grand, Miss Gussie De Forrest will appear as "Capitola" in the sensational drama of the "Hidden Hand." This play drew an immense audience at the Matinee on last Wednesday, and it is to be repeated to-morrow by special request.

DOUGLAS LODGE of the Knights of Pythias accepted the kind invitation of Manager Miles and last evening visited the Grand Opera in a body, preceded by a portion of their drill-corps in uniform. There were about one hundred and fifty knights in all, among whom were some of the most prominent K. P.'s of the State.

PROPERTY holders on Chase street between Linden street and Hamilton road, are protesting against paying for recent improvements on the street on the ground that it is improperly and poorly done and that the proposed cost exceeds the amount allowed by law. The Board of Improvements will visit the street this afternoon.

CONTRACTS for constructing sidewalks for the coming year were awarded by the Board of Improvements yesterday as follows: First district, Thomas Lloyd; Second district, Fanning & Reynolds; Third district, John Horton; Fourth district, Thomas Lloyd; Freestone flagging, J. Finnegan & Co.

The beautiful and sensational drama of the "Hidden Hand" will be produced at the Grand Opera-house Matinee again to-morrow, by special request, as many were unable to procure seats upon last Wednesday. The principal character, "Capitola," newboy and heiress, will be personated by Miss De Forrest, who has won quite a name in this part.

A PETITION was last night presented to the School Board asking for the creation in the Public Schools of a special department for the deaf and dumb. It was announced that children desiring to attend the school for the deaf and dumb would be accommodated at the Second Intermediate School, on Ninth street, near Main, commencing Wednesday morning, at nine o'clock.

YESTERDAY morning, as Mr. Burdell, of Coryville, opened his door he found on his door step a bundle of goods, napkins, towels, dresses and so on, valued at about $25, which proved to be the same articles that Mary Ann Dorsey was implicated in stealing from his house recently, and through fear of the consequences of which she so mysteriously disappeared when the play of "The Devil's Oath" with Mr. Charles Foster as the hero.

The called meeting of Common Council yesterday did not result in a quorum, and the magistrates' bonds are still unapproved. It is whispered that it was done purposely in order to keep the Republican magistrates out as long as possible. This, however, is mere rumor. The regular meeting occurs on Wednesday, at which beside the magistrates' bonds the matter on confirming or rejecting the Mayor's police appointments will come up. It is rumored that some of them will be rejected.

A COMPLIMENTARY entertainment was given at the Gymnasium on Fourth street last evening by the members, and was attended by a select company of invited guests. The exercises consisted of gymnastic performances of all kinds by the members, interspersed with music from a fine orchestra, and some excellent sparring between Capt. Roebuck and Mr. J. M. Cannon. The whole performance excelled in many respects the majority of those given by professionals, and was a credit both to the Gymnasium, its managers and members.

The Narrow Gauge Road.
The officials of the Miami Valley Narrow Gauge Road met at the Burnet House this morning. Nothing of general importance to the public was transacted, the meeting being merely to devise plans for a route into the city and make arrangements for further work.

Another Church Organized.
Interesting exercises will be held to-morrow at Madisonville, Ohio, on the occasion of the organization of a new Baptist church and the ordination of their pastor, Rev. Henry L. King, recently from Philadelphia.

Prominent clergymen and laymen of the Baptist denomination of this city and vicinity will participate in the exercises, which will occupy the entire day and evening.

Half-fare rates have been secured for those attending, on the Marietta and Cincinnati railroad, on trains leaving at 9:45 and 11:15 A. M.

Shoes for the Centennial.

A meeting of the boot and shoe men and leather dealers met at the Board of Trade rooms yesterday at 3 o'clock for the purpose of considering the propriety of representing these things at the Philadelphia Centennial, as a large building will be erected there for the purpose of a display. Henry Kessler presided, and Mr. Wm. Stribley acted as secretary.

It was moved by Mr. Henry Kessler that the proper officer of the meeting should correspond with the Centennial people, and ascertain under what conditions they could co-operate, and upon what plan. Motion carried.

A motion was offered by Mr. Stribley to have a committee of three, appointed to ascertain what amount of subscriptions can be obtained. Carried. The committee to be appointed by the Chair at a future time.

Adjourned to meet at the call of the President.

Lecture by Rev. Dr. McCosh.

A fine audience of cultivated people met in College Hall last night to listen to this gentleman (who is President of the College of New Jersey, Princeton), deliver his first lecture here, on the "Powers of the Human Mind."

The mind, says he, is no part of the cerebro-spinal mass—the brain. It is a separate force acting only through the forces using the brain as a medium. The gray cellular matter of the brain is, so to speak, the seat of thought. He regarded the mind as only connected with the forces that act through the brain, communicating with them, but separate, different and distinct from them.

Coming to the controverted theory that mind was the sum product and result of organic forces whose theater and medium of operation were the brain, he said one of the best minds numbered among the Alumni of Princeton College had spent years in Germany, and had just returned. He had been under the ablest professors in that country. The gray cellular matter of the brain is, so to speak, the seat of thought. He regarded the mind as only connected with the forces that act through the brain, communicating with them, but separate, different and distinct from them.

Here the lecturer spent a short time showing how little physiology had shown of the nature of the mind, and showing that it was really next to nothing.

He was vain, he said, to deny that there was a set of unexplained mental phenomena, which, for want of a better name, were called mesmerism. He was quite sure, however, that clairvoyance was a deception.

Dr. McCosh's treatment of the subject is very simple and lucid. He is very desirous of seeing mechanics and workmen present at his lectures. The next one will be delivered to-morrow night.

Amusements.

WOOD'S THEATER.—The Fifth Avenue company drew a good audience last evening to witness the representation of their popular play, the "Big Bonanza."

The piece, in such hands as theirs, was, as a matter of course, a success, and will become more and more popular with every evening of its repetition.

The great beauty of Mr. Daly's company outside of their individual merit as performers is the unity of their action, showing the drilling of a thorough artist in their manager, Mr. Daly.

THE GRAND OPERA-HOUSE.—Mr. McCullough appeared at this house last evening as "Damon" in Banim's celebrated play of "Damon and Pythias."

The play was originally written or rather adapted from a pre-Shakespearean drama for Mr. Macready. Mr. McCullough, however, assumed the character of "Damon" and made it almost exclusively his own, and since his time but few have ever attempted it. But McCullough gave us a "Damon" last evening that called up the memories of his dead master, who, could he have seen his pupil, especially in his appearance to the Senators of Syracuse, could not have felt otherwise than proud. The support, with one exception, was very good. The part of "Lucullus" was very weak, and a few ill-mannered folks so far forgot themselves and their breeding, if they ever had any, as to indulge in the forward practice of hissing.

Mr. Shine, though not a genius, is a good, conscientious actor, and is deserving of something better at the hands of a Cincinnati audience than the treatment he received last evening.

Mr. Roache, as "Pythias," was only fair, while Miss De Forrest, as "Calanthe," was excellent. The "Diogenes" of Mark Price was masterly, and stamped him, though a small part, as an actor of more than ordinary ability.

To-night "Richelieu," in which Mr. McCullough has but few rivals. The "Hidden Hand" at the matinee to-morrow.

THE NATIONAL.—This house was comfortably filled last night, the special attraction being the production of "The Devil's Oath," with Mr. Charles Foster as the hero.

The "Natural History Store" of Mr. R. W. Mercer.

No. 117 West Sixth street, there is on exhibition the rarest curiosity in the shape of "mummified" or petrified humanity ever seen in this, or it may be, in any other city. It is a child mummy, as it is called for want of a better name, found several weeks ago in the recently explored "Grand Avenue Cave," situated near Glasgow Junction, Kentucky, a station on the Louisville & Nashville railroad.

It is the figure of a child that was, when alive, about 4½ feet in height, and is supposed by experts who have examined it to have been a female and twelve years old at the time of her death. It lies on the left side, with the arm on the lower side bent, the hand nearly touching the face. The other is extended lengthwise, and the lower limbs are drawn up towards the breast.

The form itself would appear to have been greatly emaciated, as of one who died in great physical suffering, possibly of starvation. With that exception it is in a remarkable state of preservation. One hand only has disappeared, and one foot, broken off in removal, has been skillfully replaced. The muscles or sinews of the limbs, all the vertebrae, and the various anatomical developments of the body can be clearly traced.

But the most wonderful and attractive portion is the face, which is surprisingly perfect and life-like. One eyebrow, and more especially the eyelash, on the upper side, both remain to be seen as entire and distinct as they are in a living person. The teeth and lips and the ears are also well preserved, and it is singular to observe the happy and childish expression that yet lingers on the features like one merely enjoying a calm and pleasant slumber.

Dr. Howe, the Lecturer of the Cincinnati Society of Natural History, who is authority on such matters, has given the figure a critical examination, and expresses the opinion that it was one of the ancient race of Mound Builders and must be several thousand years old. The saltpetre deposits in the cave where it was discovered contributed, in all probability, to its strange preservation.

A Religious Centennial.

The meeting of Christian workers to take action regarding a Religious Centennial celebration was well attended last evening. A plan was adopted making the meeting a sort of jubilee of all the evangelical Churches of the country, particularly of the Allegheny mountains, at which should be presented ably prepared reports, statistical and otherwise, of the work and progress of the Church during the last century, and plans for more successful operation in the future.

Messrs. R. H. Leonard, John F. Willson and A. S. Ludlow were appointed a committee to report at the next meeting nominations for a Board of fifteen managers, to further effect an organization and carry on the work.

National Trotting Association.

The Board of Appeals of the National Trotting Association held a meeting at noon to-day in parlor No. 112, of the Grand Hotel.

C. W. Woolley, Esq., acted as Chairman of the meeting, and Thos. J. Vail, of Hartford, Conn., the regular Secretary and Treasurer of the Association, filled the position of Secretary.

The Board of Appeals consists of twelve very prominent members of the Association, and well known turfmen. Only six of the members were present, viz: C. W. Woolley, of Cincinnati; Thomas J. Vail, of Hartford; George Sturges, of Philadelphia; Edwin Thorne, of Millbrook, N. Y.; Wm. Edwards, of Cleveland, O.; and Joshua Tathill, of East Saginaw, Mich.

The meeting was an informal one, and nothing of general public interest transpired.

OUR FAMILY BREAD.

Truly the most important adulterations to avoid are those which are calculated to injure the "stomach of life," our family bread. We know that merchants who supply their customers with pure articles like Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder and his True Flavoring Extracts, retain better patrons, have a larger trade, and make more money, than those who buy and recommend articles that are poor and cheap.

Besides it's a pleasure to have articles that never fail to give satisfaction, and that can be used with safety. A safe family cake, Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is one-third stronger, two cans equal to three of other kinds.

"When the swallows homeward fly," then is the time when coughs and colds begin to appear. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup cures every case.
